Association of Washington Business

AWB

The Association of Washington Business

AWB speaks for Washington businesses

With a diverse membership consisting of businesses large and small, urban and rural, and from all parts of the state, the Association of Washington Business lobbies in Olympia for public policy that encourages economic growth, boosts productivity and creates jobs.

Member diversity = effective grassroots

Approaching our centennial year, AWB is the oldest and most influential business organization in the state, and serves as Washington's chamber of commerce. Of 3,700 members, 75 percent are businesses with fewer than 50 employees. Our membership also includes some of the nation's largest and most influential companies. Together, AWB members provide jobs for some 600,000 Washington residents.

Since 1904, AWB has built a solid record of success in the legislative and regulatory arenas. Recent achievements include regulatory reform, tax incentives and reductions that help attract – and retain – business investment in Washington state, and policy changes that encourage state agencies to become more efficient and customer-friendly.

A diversity of AWB members serve on the issue councils, committees and task forces that guide the association and set our policy goals. Over the years, the AWB membership has become one of the most effective and respected grassroots forces in the state.

The AWB Millennium 2000 Voting Record

How the AWB Voting Record works

The AWB Millennium 2000 Voting Record provides a representative sample of votes taken on important business issues during the 1999-2000 Biennium. It also includes a voting percentage summary that indicates how business-friendly a legislator has been during the past decade. Inside is a brief summary of the top 1999-2000 business legislation included in the voting record, and how the Senate voted on each bill. These summaries are followed by a matrix to allow you to compare – at a glance – how each state senator voted when important business legislation was brought to the floor.

Why just Senate votes this year?

The AWB Millennium 2000 Voting Record includes only Senate floor votes – no House votes. Why? The reason is simple: With the House evenly split – 49 Republicans and 49 Democrats – very little legislation of substance or controversy ever reached the floor for a vote. Each House committee had two co-chairs who had to come to agreement not only on which bills would be voted on in committee, but also which bills would even get a hearing. Consequently, the few bills that did make it out of committee and onto the House floor received votes that were near unanimous.

Given the even split in the House – and the lack of meaningful difference in voting records – the official vote record would not have provided AWB members with sufficient and appropriate information to help guide their evaluation of how state representatives voted on legislation important to employers. As a result, the decision was made to not include votes taken in the House during 1999 and 2000. While information on House votes for the past two sessions is insufficient, pro-business voting percentages for state representatives who served in prior sessions are indicated on page 12. In the Senate, numerous bills of substance and import to Washington employers were debated and brought to the floor for a vote. The resulting voting record provides AWB members with critical information about their state senators.

Check the record . . .

AWB believes the votes included in the AWB Millennium 2000 Voting Record are a fair representation of each senator's support for the positions AWB took on important business issues. However, no voting record can represent the entire story of a legislator's attitude regarding issues of importance to Washington employers, or whether the final vote on a particular bill or amendment accurately reflects that legislator's position throughout the entire process on the proposal. Nonetheless, the AWB Millennium 2000 Voting Record provides AWB members with a starting point upon which they can base policy discussions with their elected representatives, one on one. We encourage you to visit AWB online at www.awb.org, where you can review AWB's 2000 Legislative Review to learn more about how business-friendly bills fared in the 2000 session.

The top business issues of the 1999 session

HEALTH CARE

SSB 5512

Mandated coverage of contraceptives

The Senate voted 28-20 in favor of this bill, which would have required all health insurance carriers in Washington to provide coverage for all FDA approved contraceptives in plans that provide any prescription drug benefits. An "N" vote reflects AWB's position.

ENVIRONMENT

SHB 1448

Aquatic Lands Clean-up

This bill requires the state to speak with a single voice when making decisions about the clean-up of contaminated marine sediments. In the past, the state Department of Ecology has had authority over clean-up actions, but the Department of Natural Resources retained veto power over final decisions because of the agency's management of aquatic lands. This legislation assigns ultimate authority for decisions to Ecology. The Senate voted 33-14 in favor of the bill. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position.

SHB 2091

Forests and Fish: Salmon Recovery

This law ensures regulatory certainty as well as stability for timber landholders. It also provides tax incentives and compensation for lands set aside as stream buffers to protect salmon. This critical legislation, which the Senate approved 29-17, is a model for salmon recovery plans related to other industries. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position on this legislation, which was a multi-year policy objective for AWB.

SSB 5285

Nuisance Law

This bill, which clarifies nuisance law and environmental permits, would have ensured that companies operating under an air, water quality or solid waste permit are not liable for nuisance if their actions comply with the permit. The nuisance law bill passed the Senate by a vote of 30-17. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position on this bill, which was among AWB's key policy objectives for the 1999 legislative session.

SSB 5325

Unincorporated Area Councils

This bill would have allowed "NIMBY" groups to halt development projects and fight zoning changes aimed at encouraging the construction of needed housing and expanding the amount of land available to support economic growth. It would have allowed unincorporated areas of the state to establish "unincorporated area councils" that would have direct influence on the development of comprehensive plans required under the 1990 state Growth Management Act. The Senate voted in favor of the measure 28-20. An "N" vote reflects AWB's position.

2SSB 5595

Salmon Project Funding Board

This law promotes salmon spending based on good science, not on politics. It creates an independent, citizen-run salmon recovery board that makes spending decisions to ensure that public money is spent where it will do the most good for salmon. The bill, approved in the Senate 38-9, also creates an expenditure tracking system for salmon and water quality projects that will boost accountability and encourage citizen support of salmon recovery efforts. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position on this bill, which was a multi-year policy objective for AWB.

Growth Management and Housing Availability

This bill would have ensured that local governments fulfill the urban density requirements of the state Growth Management Act. SB 5914 saw much revision before passing out of the Senate by a vote of 28-18. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position on this bill, which was among our priority policy objectives for 1999.

ESB 5816

Expedited land Subdivision

This bill would have allowed the state to treat all land within urban growth areas the same way. Currently, cities can allow landowners to subdivide a property into as many as nine lots through an expedited process. ESB 5816 would have given counties the same authority.

This bill would have reduced not only the cost of real estate transactions, but also the amount of time required to develop urban housing. The Senate passed the bill 44-3. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position.

HUMAN RESOURCES

ESB 5337

Discrimination Law Study

This bill would have created a legislative task force to examine ambiguity and inconsistency within Washington's discrimination laws. The bill passed the Senate 42-6. A "Y" vote reflects AWB's position on this bill, which was one of AWB's 1999 priority policy objectives.

SSB 5470

Chemical-Related Illness Study

This bill would have required a one-sided study of chemical-related illness workers' compensation claims at the state Department of Labor and Industries. The Senate approved this bill by a vote of 30-17. An "N" vote reflects AWB's position.

SSB 5491

Limitation on Non-union Contractors

This bill would have required the use of state-approved apprentices for a minimum of 10 percent of the labor hours on all public works contracts of $1 million or more. Because the unions largely control which apprentices are “state approved,” the bill would have reduced opportunities for non-union firms. The Senate approved the bill 25-23. An “N” vote reflects AWB’s position.

ESB 5580 Benefits During Employer Appeals

This bill would have required an employer to continue paying workers’ compensation time-loss benefits when the employer has appealed a frivolous claim. It passed the Senate by a vote of 28-21. An “N” vote reflects AWB’s position.

SSB 5583 New Employment Standards

This ambiguously worded bill would have made it an unfair practice to change employment practices in order to reduce the cost of employee benefits. The Senate voted it down 24-20. An “N” vote reflects AWB’s position.

SB 5614 Employee Misconduct

This law protects employers who have safety programs in place from being cited when misconduct on the part of a worker results in a safety violation. The Senate approved the bill by a vote of 45-0. A “Y” vote reflects AWB’s position.

ESB 5819 Extended Unemployment Benefits

This bill would have cost employers more than $170 million in extended unemployment insurance benefits for specified dislocated workers during the first six years alone. The Senate approved the bill by a vote of 33-16. An “N” vote reflects AWB’s position.

SB 6048 Retrospective Rating Program

This critical 1999 law allows AWB to continue to offer its workers’ compensation Retro program. The program gives AWB members who have a good workplace safety record an opportunity to earn a refund on their worker’s compensation premiums. AWB’s Retro program is especially important to our small-business members. The Senate voted 46-2 in favor of the measure. A “Y” vote reflects AWB’s position.

TAX & FISCAL POLICY

HB 1887 Manufacturing Machinery and Equipment Exemption

This 1999 law clarifies that logging and concrete aggregate are considered manufacturers and are therefore included in the manufacturing machinery and equipment tax exemption. It also clarifies that off-site testing (for example, on air or water) also qualifies for the exemption. AWB was successful in lobbying to remove language that would have forced employers to keep tedious records to demonstrate “majority use” of equipment. The Senate unanimously approved the measure. A “Y” vote reflects AWB’s position on this issue, which was a priority policy objective.

ESHB 2260 Rural Economic Development

This law allows county government to withhold .08 percent of state sales tax receipts to pay for roads, water and sewer systems, treatment plants and other infrastructure improvements critical to a healthy business climate. The measure passed both the House and Senate by unanimous vote. A “Y” vote reflects AWB’s position.

SSB 5363 Collective Bargaining/ Contracting Out

The issue of “contracting out,” which helps state agencies save money by allowing them to buy goods and services from private contractors, was again tied by labor to the “collective bargaining/right to strike” issue. This bill would have opened the door to allow state workers to unite against progress in the area of contracting out. AWB opposed the connection. The bill passed the Senate 29-19. An “N” vote reflects AWB’s position.

REGULATORY REFORM

SHB 1777 Technical Assistance Documents

This law prevents state agencies from using their technical assistance documents (such as guidelines, manuals and educational material) for establishing mandatory obligations or serving as the basis of a citation. The measure, one of AWB’s key policy objectives, passed both the House and Senate by unanimous vote. A “Y” vote reflects AWB’s position.
